NURSE AIDE SHORTAGE MAY CLOSE WARD I

Because the recent call for new nurse aides was not successful, Poston General hospital may be forced to close Ward I, according to Minoru Okamoto, city manager.

Ward I is used for women tubercular cases. If Ward I were to be closed the patients would be sent home to their blocks, but in the past, in several cases, there has been much opposition from the block residents to the return of these tuberculosis patients.

It has been suggested that older men and women replace the younger nurse aides. The work is easy and experience would not be required.
